"But this we know, the obstacle that checked and tripped the body, shot the spirit on further than target ever showed or shone."

Robert Frost

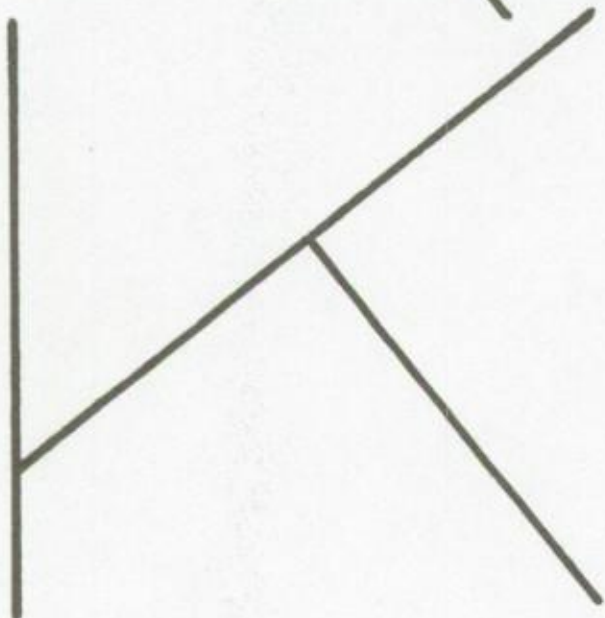

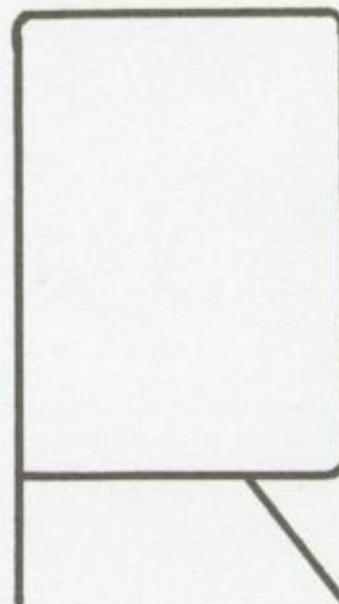

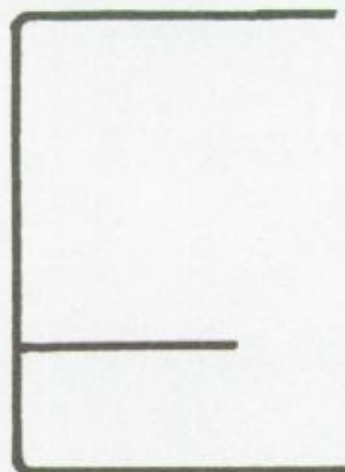

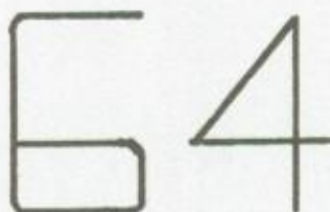

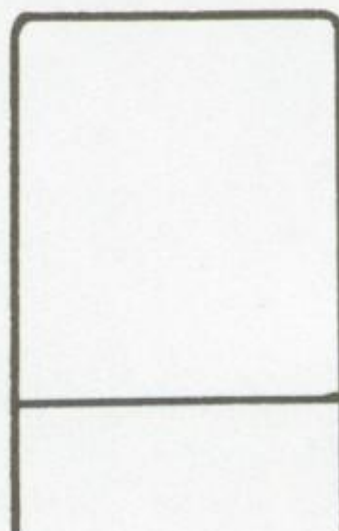

Like all dimensions, time is relative.

Time may be the minutes before the end of an exam, the periods left in a day, the days before vacation, the quarters before the year is up, or the years before graduation.

As President Kennedy's assassination has tragically demonstrated, however, time cannot be turned back.

The school year 1963-1964 cannot return. It can only be remembered. We have tried to capture the year's essence in this yearbook.

HORACE GREELEY HIGH SCHOOL

70 Roaring Brook Road
Chappaqua, New York

December 18, 1963

Dear Dr. Miles,

We would like to reverse a tradition this year, and write you a letter instead of your usual letter to the Senior Class.

First, we wish to thank you for the great concern you have shown us, both as a student body and as individuals. Many of us remember how surprised and pleased we were to receive a personal note from you recognizing a small achievement. Others recall your help if we had a particular problem, your visits to our homes, your long talks with our parents. We appreciate your untiring efforts to obtain the best possible education for each student. You have done all these things in spite of the wide range of your duties which have expanded greatly since you first became Principal of Horace Greeley High School thirteen years ago.

As students, we have been influenced by your generosity, patience, and energy. We realize your position must often be a lonely one, but it is not unappreciated.

In gratitude for your service to our class and school, your guidance, and your concern, we dedicate to you the Quaker '64.

Sincerely,

The Class of '64

When does the school day really start? Late the night before . . .

or early in the morning?

After a quick breakfast and a long wait at the busstop . . .

Students arrive in droves. Most come by bus . . .

But privileged upperclassmen come in cars.

They find that the school is just waking up too.

First to the office. The teachers too are slowly arriving, getting their mail, and chatting . . .

perhaps even with Dr. Cowan . . .

or a member of the School Board.

L. to R.: Dr. Guy T. McBride, Mr. Frank Campbell, Mrs. Donald B. Smiley, Mr. James J. Lynch, Mr. William F. Hoeft, president.

American Field Service
10th Anniversary
Chappaqua, New York

We are pleased to have two AFS students attending Horace Greeley High School this year. Hartmut Hoehne from the Gymnasium Walsrode, Germany, is the guest of the Bernerd Schrauf family. Vera Vasconcellos, from the Colegio Sinodal, Sao Leopoldo, Brazil, is the guest of the Ross Angier family. Rob Mygatt spent last summer in Damascus, Syria, as an AFS exchange student.

Ten Years of American Field Service

MR. CHARLES TAYLOR

Ten years ago Mr. Charles Taylor was selected to administer the initial operation of the American Field Service in Chappaqua. That first year he organized a Circus Carnival to finance the program. Miss Antonette Packs, Miss Claire Risoli, and Mr. Edward Stark gave of their time and talent, the students cooperated in a tremendous effort, the town backed the enterprise — and AFS was launched. Mr. Taylor has worked on the program constantly ever since and has played a large part in its growth and development in our school and community. For his unflagging zeal and constant devotion to the ideal of the AFS we should like to honor him as the Chappaqua chapter marks its 10th year at our school.

Chappaqua has been "home" to 14 students from 12 countries and 15 Chappaqua teenagers have spent summers abroad in ten different countries. Students at Horace Greeley have learned about many countries at first hand and have had an opportunity to show the American way of life to our many visitors. In 1958, under the guidance of Mrs. Philip Mygatt, the organization was formalized here and that summer we entertained our first group of AFSers during their bus trip. Close to 400 youngsters from some 50 countries have made a brief visit here and learned about life in our community. We hope some of these many visitors will return to Chappaqua this summer when the AFS celebrates its 50th anniversary.

Since we became part of the American Field Service 15,315 teenagers have visited 39 countries during the summers since our own Gail Piller and Bill Volckhausen won AFS scholarships to Germany in 1954. The school program, instituted in 1957, has thus far sent 1,378 American high school students to 22 countries for all or half of the school year. All these students have learned a different way of life, but all have learned that family life and the joy of sharing are universal.

Those who have become acquainted with the program know that it is one sure way to make a contribution towards understanding and peace among nations. Charles Taylor will tell you that.

Some of our memories are personal ones...

... Four years is a long time and short time: it is hard to remember our first freshman days, and yet we can't seem to account for the time in between then and now. What do these four years mean? If you look at some of the old yearbooks, you'll see that we've changed officers: Rob, Richie, Brenda and Mary, to Dave, Tom, Mike and Mary, to Willy, Mike, Carol and Sandy, to Bruce, Mike, Mike, and Allyson. We've also piled up an admirable list of social events and projects: a Halloween party, a popcorn project, a workday, a pro basketball game, "Hello Hop," a movie festival, a Junior Prom, Junior Musical, Senior Play, Senior Carnival and Senior Pass, with a number of pizza and splash parties and the Lounge thrown in.

But every class has officers and projects, and we sometimes have wondered if all this money making and spending has any purpose. What important, lasting thing has '64 achieved? To answer this, we must turn from the class as a whole to the individuals that compose it. '64 has never been a particularly united class; it seems that a number of individuals, of hard workers have been the source of our financial and social successes. These people have devoted their time and hard work, and have gained honor for '64. Part of their reward goes to the whole class: for it's a nice thing to know that your class has more than the average number of National Honor Society members, more Merit Scholarship finalists and more Regents Scholarship recipients. It's nice to know that a '64er was the first Freshman Thespian, that a '64er holds the highest average in Greeley's history. As a '64er it's nice to know that the people who worked on it and went to it consider your Junior Prom the best ever held. But the greater reward and the most important achievement of The Class of 1964 is the satisfaction which the hard working individual alone can feel. A satisfaction at having created the wonderful memories.

We can't show all the work that was done to make the events depicted on the following pages possible but we can recall something of the magic that was created . . .

. . . we had been looking forward to the Junior Musical for months, but it only seemed to last for a few minutes . . . and then it was "So sorry the party's over, over I'm sorry to say. Though we'll remember . . ."

A Prophec

As we enter the Grand Ballroom of the Chap-paqua Hilton for the 25th Reunion of the Class of '64, our hostess Carol Torborg greets us. Carol owns a coast-to-coast chain of Lyon's Dens, where she'll host any Greeley alumni passing thru.

But who's that over there? Why it's Dave Roach, recently elected U. S. President, discussing the latest album of "the Wanderers" — Barry Marshall, Bruce Greyson, Buzz Cabell and Harry Haldt. With him are V. P. Brenda Carlson, and Secretary of the Department of Folk Music and Harvard History Prof. Jim Mann.

Nearby, Mathematician Dave Schomaker is explaining the geometry of skiing to Olympic Slalom star Baur Whittlesey. Listening in are Olympic swim champs Mary Buckner and Dick Rollins. Also eavesdropping are ski school owners Patty Mountrey and Peg Curtis. Standing with them is Barb Johnson, owner of Wedler's Way, Ireland's first ski resort.

Other representatives of championship athletics are arriving; led by their managers Pete Walsh and Don Vining, we see Jon Netter and Bob Nolan, who together constitute the whole line of the N. Y. Giants. Noted tennis player Ernie Chu was unable to attend: he's playing at Wimbledon. However International Soccer stars Bruce Hoeft and Mike Lagala managed to make it. The two are quite inseparable; after setting the World's Record for Leg Injuries, they decided to skip crutches, and put their casts together. Teesie Slader's here too, after capturing most of the Blue ribbons at Madison Square Garden's International Horse Show. Tod O'Conner, playboy editor of Sports Illustrated is interviewing Bill Grennow who has replaced Wilt the Stilt. Lynn Perry is trying to get a word in about the thrill of winning the U. S. Badminton title. Ann Bitter in turn is trying to tell her about the new game where you play hockey, tennis, badminton, volleyball and basketball all at the same time, while on skis.

To our left we see Coke Magnate Wally Ackerman, talking shop with Mike Moodie, owner of that famous chain of drive-in restaurants, Moodie's Milk Bars, and those famous Honey Peddlers, Carol Graham, Joyce Patterson and Jolene Clark. Candy Apple tycoon Ken Moslander and A&P owner Pat Herlihy are discussing the announcement that Dave Mack has been made Pres. of Rexall's. Verna Caniff is happily showing off her new wig to redheads Sheila Walsh, Sandy Shea, Sue Lambert, Sandy Henschel and Mary Vredenburg, who've made their fortunes pretending to dye their hair for Lady Clairol ads. Kevin McDermott, that gallant freckle cream manufacturer, smilingly adds a few choice words. Auto-wreck yard owner Bruce Konrad is discussing the high accident rate with police chief Bain Turner.

The Nation's transportation industry is also well represented: there's Barb Bronson, who runs a highly successful taxi service between here and Trinity-Pawling. Randy "Come On Down" Lundberg, owner of Eastern Airlines, and Scooter manufacturer Emmet Lowry, are discussing the new jet route non-stop from Cape Cod to California, just begun by Jet owners Vera Vasconcellos and Sue Angier.

Other Wall Street and Madison Avenue personages include Pat Malonee, who sells contact lenses to under-developed countries, Professional Angel Ellen Jones, International Pork Dealer Tom Harley, Professional Pucas Chris Keenan and Ruth MacNaughton, window decorator for Bergdorf-Goodman, Bonnie Sargent, and Deaness of Katherine Gibb's Secretarial School, Allison Fellows.

The literary set seems to have arrived en masse. Nick Cobbs, editor of "the New Republic", is Linda Guida's escort for the evening. Linda wrote the Mystery of the Purple Cave, which is presently outselling Nancy Drew, the Hardy Boys and James Bond. Alice Kifner, Editor-in-Chief of the New York Times is deep in conversation with Kathy Georgehegan, who, it's just been revealed, is the Dark Lady of the Sonnets. Larry Garvin, author of the top selling A Short History of DOBS, is offering them some pertinent advice.

More Prophec

Who are all those people talking to astronauts Betsy Toole and Ed McKelvey? It seems the Diplomatic Corps and government personnel are in complete attendance tonight. Headed by Ambassador At Large Rob Mygatt, there's Ambassador to Mexico Jeff Sisson, Ambassador to Germany Craig Schraut, Ambassador to Ireland Ed Whelan, and Ambassadors to Russia Marj White and Bob Wehman. Translating for everybody are Valerie Visca and Peter Kami. Next to them we see Supreme Court Chief Justice Jerry Lang talking over foreign affairs with World Bank Treasurer Joel Worthman, and U.S.O. Chairmen Marge Irwin, Barb Avery and Linda Clark.

Talking over local politics are co-mayors of Mount Kisco, Bill Murphy, Ginny Way, Peggy Babalis and Sue Parsons. It seems that Fire Chiefs Gary Baker, Judson Irish and Mike Gildesgame have abolished ugly fire engines and trucks, and now use only red Triumphs and Corvairs. Red Cross Worker Diane Page, and Social Worker Abby Griffin are listening closely; they're planning on having Westchester County declared a depressed area.

The academic world has not been neglected by our feting reunioners. We see Becky McBride, Math Prof. at Texas A&M, talking with Vassar's youngest and most beautiful President, the former Carol Curcio.

In charge of entertainment tonight are those world famous hostesses Jenny Free and Ann Lewis. They announce that first on tonight's program is a demonstration of the latest dance craze, the Tryp (a combination of the Twist, the Fruge, the Fly, and the Slop) by dance expert Jack Gedney. Coming out of retirement for tonight only to dance with Jack is Shelley Taylor. Next is Physical Fitness Expert Randy Dygert, who does push-ups and basketball drills with Donny Mulhare who coaches the Harlem Globe Trotters. Randy and Don are followed by recording stars Claire Rousseau and Diane Davidson, who sing a charming duet. Proceeding them is a preview of Bliss Holland's latest Broadway spectacular, which also features actor Ray

Party

Odiorne and dancers, Sue Williams, Bonnie Telesco, Robin Russell, and Sandy Harris, and Ann Papalio. The floor show closes with music by the combined orchestras of Pete Harvey and Bill Elliott, and some snow plowing to the tune of Skater's Waltz by Andy Rice.

Clapping rather loudly for their usual savoir faire selves, we see the Jet Set. Headed by the couples of the year, Ronny Savoy and Maureen Tully, and John Mincieli and Diane Thomas, the backbone of the group consists of the Tall Handsome Boys for Short Attractive Girls Escort Service. This contingent consists of Dave Lauterbach, Dave Mullineaux, Eric Sellelen, Chuck Page, John Lindquist, Don and Dave Kappauf, Kim Davies, Noel Smith, Chuck Bohlen and John Schreiner. Tonight the boys are squiring those lovely post debs, Judy Harbottle, Irene Dingwall, Betsey Creamer, Sue Carey, Tina Hill, Nancy Butler, Ann Mahoney, Bev Moller, and Pam Wilson.

In a threesome nearby we see Tom Fisher chatting with Marj Bowen. Tom is a big game hunter in Africa, but we think his best catch is Sandy Holden, who's standing at his side. Marj just flew in from Greece, where she gives slumber parties featuring sunrise on the Acropolis.

Some who couldn't jet in to the party include Pam Gerken, Marianne Brown, and Cheryl Bourne who were too busy with their hacienda in Mexico City, and Denny McMahon and Kit Kasten, who run the notorious Kasten's Kard Parlours in Reno, Nevada. Others who couldn't attend left word with Class Correspondent and fashion writer Marilyn Olson. Renee Rode says her hairdresser still doesn't know for sure. Crissie Lossing is still dating older men, and Steffi Fay muscle bound ones. Steve Wiley is finding that the road to Heaven is tough, but Carl Van Brunt disagrees: He's just been made the Great God of Sarcasm. Nick Hume still takes everything seriously. Helen Benedict was arrested for loitering around Roaring Brook School, while Sue Davis and Nancy Reynolds are still hiding in Alexander's, and Lynn Wetzel is away on a college weekend. Emily

Still More Prophecy Part

Epstein is busy using up an unlimited number of 26 trip tickets to the City, while Chip Ahrens is traveling around the world collecting stamps. Hartmut Hoehne writes he's given up smoking, and Ian Stewart and Ross Schafer are working in the cartoon studios of Walt Disney. Rumor has it that when the Ten Best Dressed list appears, Fern Hanssler, Merry Pillon, Pam Brown and Maria Cassano will be on it. Carol Orsenigo runs a catering service featuring spaghetti, coffee, and cookies, while John Wintersteen and Chuck Burch are trying to promote more Colonialization in undeveloped areas of Westchester. Jack Kling says he's gotten a new Nebraska jacket, while Barbara Hovey, Doug Kelty and Doug Richardson are engaged in the manufacture of New Year's Eve noisemakers. Sue Clark has moved somewhere where no one else is named Clark, while Robbie Hamblen is engaged in teaching her children how to cheer in seven different languages. Jeff Stebbins and Henry Holland finally decided to hand in Yearbook forms. Alice Shore and Linda Theusen have discovered a fool proof method of getting excused from gym, and Rusty Schipa reports he's gotten a new car, but can't figure out what to name it. Bev Remally just married a dean, and Janny Diel has gone to Holland to put her finger in the dike.

And, the highest achievement of them all, Tom Wallace, Rodge Williams, Bill Travis, Tom Wright, Kevin Edwards, Bill Orser, Bob Oxenhorn, Ed Risley and Roddy Farmer write that they have become beachcombers on an obscure South Sea Island. And although Karen Timme and Judy Tirkot, disguised as missionaries, but in actuality Peace Corps Volunteers, are trying to bring them back to civilization, it seems they are happy where they are. Chip Avery is driving his M.G. in the Monte Carlo rally with Pete Brizard and Ken Duncun as mechanics. Tom Bergman broke his leg experimenting with his new guillotine but nurse Kit Taylor was there to save him. Elaine Bohlen and Madeline Burke are happily married to tall basketball players.

And so as the moon rises over the Parkway . . .

. . . time-out for some lunch . . .

. . . proper manners consist of not seating yourself until your host has done so . . .

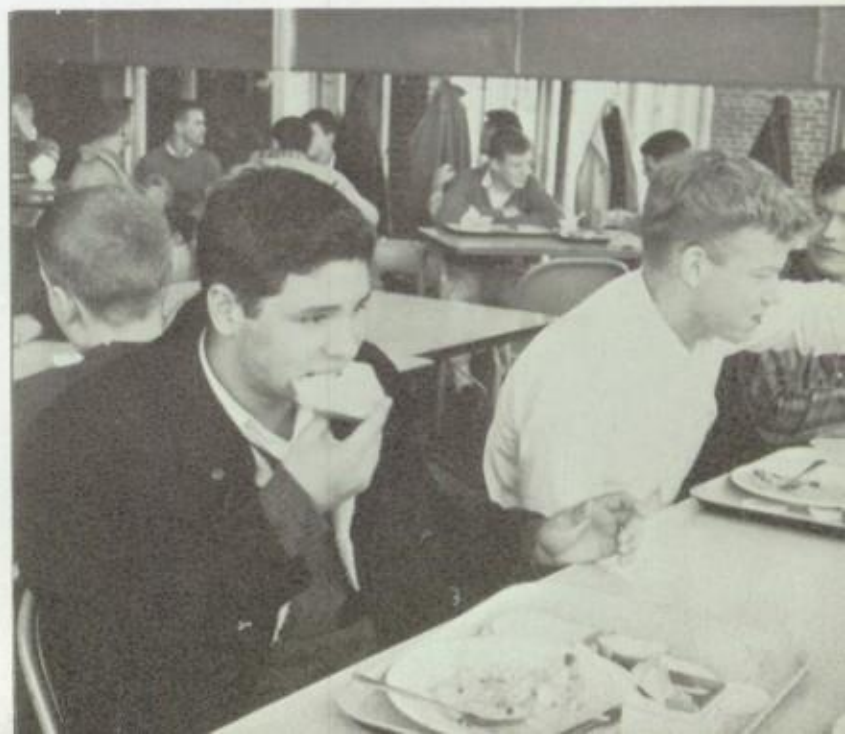

of not biting off more than you can chew . . .

. . . of not putting ones elbows on the table, or slumping, but instead maintaining good posture while eating . . .

. . . of choosing the proper utensil to implement your consumption of nutrients . . .

. . . of cutting your bread before you butter it . . .

One of the best things about lunch is that it gives you a chance to talk to other members of your class.

COACHES: Mr. Synder, Mr. Mika, Mr. Gallo, Mr. Rutigliano.

Under the leadership and fine coaching of Sam Rutigliano, the Horace Greeley varsity football team ended its season with a two and five record. Though Greeley had a losing season, its record is no indication of the quality of football played; all the games were hard-fought. Though yielding ten to fifteen pounds at every position, a Greeley team, tough both physically and mentally, demanded that every game be a close, hard-fought battle. Greeley lost to the league champions Peekskill by only one point and to an equally strong Ossining team by a single touchdown. The Quakers two victories were decisive, defeating Lakeland 33-6 and Yorktown 25-6.

There were no super stars on this year's Greeley squad, only a group of eleven hard working players who formed a team. Teamwork was the key to this year's squad; Coach Rutigliano developed in each player a responsibility to the other ten men on the field. Each game characterized this teamwork.

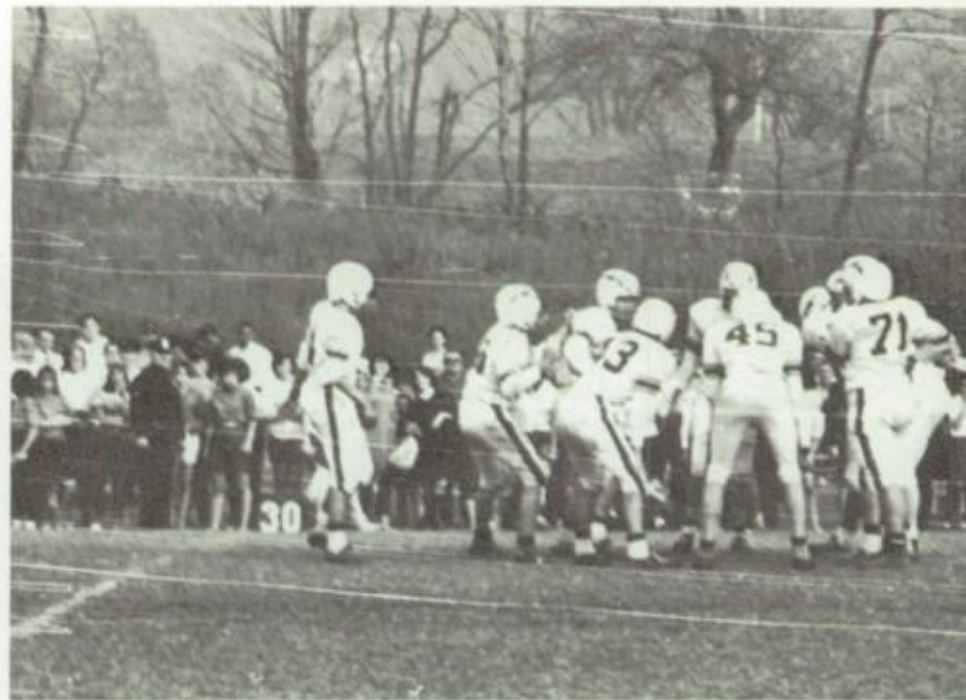

Next year's squad will have lost a fine group of seniors in co-captains Dave Roach and Randy Dygert, Bob Mygatt, Bruce Konrad, John Netter, Tom Fisher, Bob Noland, and Bain Turner. Yet the outlook for the forth-coming year is bright. Six starters from this year's squad will be returning, backs Rob and Rich Biarilli, Dan Salvesan and linemen Dan Moore, Walter Filkins and Rick Cole. These boys should form a core around which Coach Rutigliano can mold his team.

This year's junior varsity finished this season with four wins and three losses. Under Coach Snyder, the squad defeated Harrison, Yorktown, Peekskill and Fox Lane, while losing to Ossining, Lakeland and Pleasantville. This would seem to indicate that this year's J.V. will supply the varsity with some fine players.

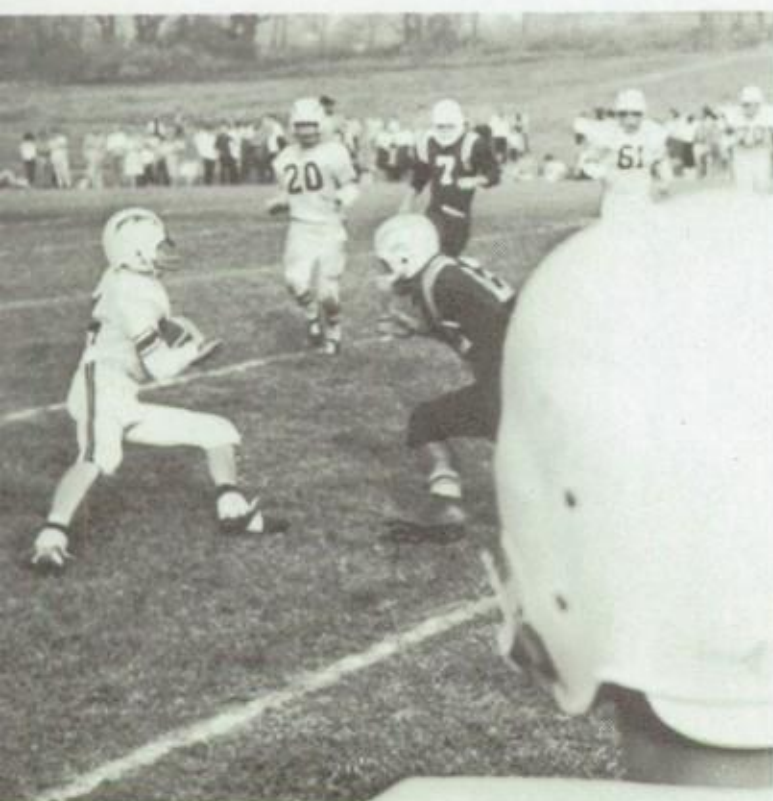

One Greeley football team went undefeated this year. The Freshmen, under Coach Pete Walsh, defeated all five teams it played. Carmel, Rye Neck, Rye, East View of White Plains and Dobbs Ferry bowed to a strong Freshman eleven.

Mr. Carl Hall, Coach

Horace Greeley's Varsity soccer team, under the leadership of Coach Carl Hall, enjoyed a typically fine season. Though, for the first time in four years the squad failed to capture the N.W.I.L. Championship, the record of seven wins, four losses and one tie brought the team to within two games of first place Fox Lane. The championship was not decided until the last game of the season in which Greeley bowed to the champion Foxes 4-0.

Though it was speculated before the season's opener that the outlook for the year wasn't bright, Greeley started off the season with big 6-0 and 7-0 wins over Yorktown and John Jay. However, Greeley, hurt by injuries which might have spoiled an extremely successful season, then lost to Scarsdale, Ossining, Lakeland and tied Fox Lane. But returning to early season form, Greeley won its next five games over Harrison, Yorktown, John Jay, Ossining and Lakeland before losing its final to Fox Lane.

Indicative of the power of the squad is the scoring record, Greeley 33 — opponents 16. Co-captains and all-county stars Tom Wallace and Bruce Hoeft were high scorers with 12 and 5 points respectively though Hoeft missed one-half the season with a broken leg.

Although next year's team will lose two-thirds of this year's squad including Kim Davies, Mike Lagala, Dave Schomaker, Jeff Stebbins and John Schreiner, such stars as Jeff Caso, Chris Devins, Bill Forsyth, Frank Murphy and Doug Logan will be returning.

The Junior Varsity, under John Lasco, completed the season with record of six wins, one loss, and one tie. The lone loss was to Scarsdale in a non-conference game, while wins were recorded twice over Yorktown, John Jay, Fox Lane.

Charles Ofelt and Bill Buckner led the scoring for the J.V. with seven and six points respectively. Ralph Bleier, Wilson Binger, Joseph Perez and Tim Clegg also registered points for Greeley.

n the winter, basketball becomes the center of attention.

The Horace Greeley Varsity Basketball team suffered through a three and fifteen season this year. The few high spots during the season were wins over Yorktown, twice, and Pleasantville.

Perhaps the biggest blow to the team's chances of a successful season were inexperience. The team was comprised of three seniors and nine juniors, and of these only four were returning varsity lettermen from the previous year. Those with experience, Dave Roach, Bill Grenow, Randy Dygert, and Drew Marshall, played consistent ball game after game. Inexperience, however, was not the only weakness. Greeley often spotted their opposition three to five inches and thus the Quakers were often allowed only one shot at the basket while the opposition received two, three, or even four shots at a time.

With nine returning lettermen, next year's prospects would seem to be good. Jim Rippe, Jeff Caso, Mark Anderson, Steve McCaffree, Doug Logan, and Dan Salveson all have the necessary experience. This, along with the continued fine play of this year's regulars, Bill Teuteberg, Drew Marshall, and Jack Carstens may offset the apparent lack of height in next year's varsity.

VARSITY RECORD

The Horace Greeley Varsity Wrestling Team under the guidance of Coach Bill Snyder concluded its season with a successful 12 and 2 record. Beginning the season with a loss to a powerful Rye team, Greeley ran up a streak of 12 wins before finally losing to Fox Lane 25 to 24. The high point of the season came when Greeley decisioned an undefeated Carmel team 21-19. The team had one shutout to its credit, crushing Peekskill 44 to 0. Running away with the N.W.I.L. championship for the third straight year, the Quakers twice defeated Lakeland, Yorktown, Peekskill and Ossining. In the post season tournament Greeley placed third in the Section B tournament and seventh in the Section 1.

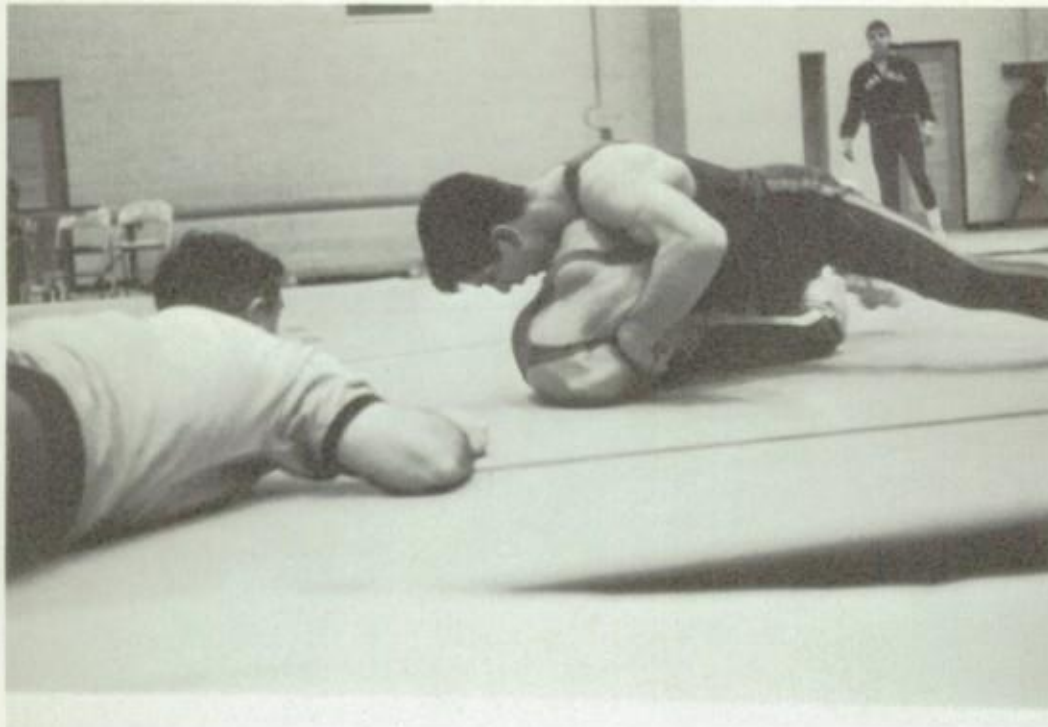

Seniors were well represented in this year's squad with Gary Baker, Joel Worthman, Mike Lagala, Mike Moodie, Jeff Stebbins, and Jon Netter holding positions on the varsity team. Gary Walker, Tuck Stebbins, Jeff Kelly, Mike Tully, Walt Filkins, and Dave Smith will be the six returning lettermen, and Greeley will not lack experience. With the help of the J.V. which finished its season undefeated, Greeley should again be the powerhouse of Northern Westchester. In his two seasons at Horace Greeley Coach Snyder has led the wrestling team to an outstanding 28-3 record. Next year's team may be able to add another 14 victories to that record.

GIRLS' LEADER CORPS

This year the Girls' Leader Corps continued to function under its committee system, with each member a head of the various committees necessary in carrying out the duties of the department. In the middle of the year Captain Ann Bitter and Co-captain Abby Griffin surrendered their duties to Sue Ferris, who will head next year's group of leaders in the gym department. Due to the growing size of the school and the increasing difficulty of reaching every girl, it was decided to broaden the approach of the Girls' Leader Corps and make its services more readily available to more girls. It is hoped that under this new system the Girls' Leader Corps will be able to continue to carry out its aim of offering something for every girl, whether she is skilled or not.

So much for 1963-64. Let's think back further.

1. Mother, please!

2. And then, dear,
I made a slam
in no trump.

3. Send this boy to camp.

4. Which birdie, Ma?

5. I'm the sheik
of Araby.

9. This one'll slay you!

6. Chocolate or Vanilla?

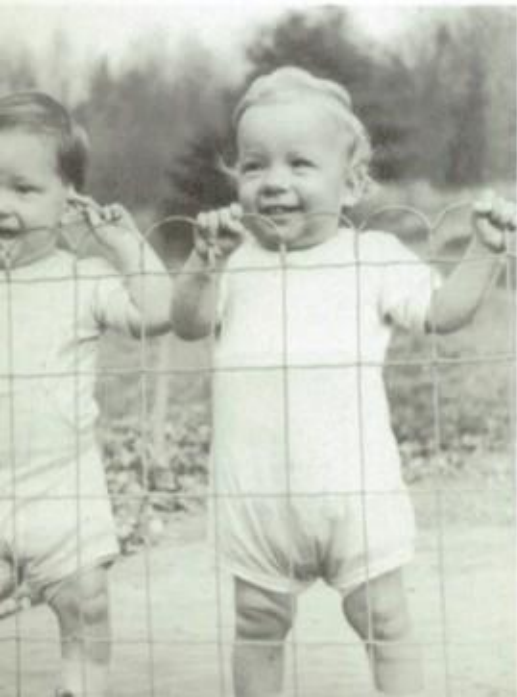

7. Mumps.

8. And that goes for your whole family!

12. Mush!

10. You rang?

11. Yeah, that greasy kid stuff.

13. I just don't get it.

PROLOGUE

This red brick fort bears witness every day
To dangerous and dreadful noon-time fray,
When Greeley scholars, bottle-necked in bunch,
Do push and shove to be the first for lunch.
These students now amassed in swarming flock,
Who waited, fighting hunger, eyes on clock,
Will one against the other battle here,
Then, quenched, return to classroom atmosphere.
I do not aim, though well a poet might,
To vividly recount this daily fight,
But rather, through my eyes, to have you meet
These characters, now sitting down to eat.

THE FRESHMAN

The king supreme of junior high was he,
Until a lowly freshman came to be.
Grasshopper-kneed in stature, smooth of chin,
He stumbles often, cracking hard his shin.
When lunchtime comes, to speed he does not dare
Beneath the toppling books that he must bear.
One day THE girl comes pertly into view!
Our lad does blanch, then turns a rosy hue.
His mustered courage gone, he mumbles "lo,"
While staring at his feet to hide the glow.
Then at this time her pen our lass does drop;
Straight to her aid our hero does hop.
But woe! Before the object can be found,
Our lad and books are scattered on the ground.
Take heart, young friend! For soon these days will pass
And you'll be big man of the sophomore class.

THE SCIENCE SCHOLAR

With horn-rimm'd glasses sliding down his nose,
Reciting Newton's law, from lunch he goes
To physics lab, and there attempts to prove
That stimuli are what make forces move.
His bible—periodic chart, no less!
Most heinous crime—the tendency to guess.
To him true beauty's numbers, patterns, signs,
Arranged with care in never-ending lines.
Brave scholar, though you may not be aware
Of power in the weapon that you bear,
Your knowledge is the sword that may begin
To fight the only battles fit to win.

THE ATHLETE

The Athlete, bearing tray, does take his seat.
Much food he daily buys, and much does eat.
Kind nature him endowed with massive frame,
And skill to star in every kind of game.
A happy lad, as yet not full aware
That brain and brawn comprise a perfect pair.
While books his fellows tackle with a smile,
Our Athlete's breaking records for the mile.
And while they wrestle Freud and Samuel Pepys,
Our weary hero homeward goes and sleeps.
A kindly heart is teacher's only tool
That can suffice to keep him still in school.

THE POLLYANNA

Sweet smiles of happiness her face adorn
When under-cook'd potatoes others mourn,
And winking eye betrays no trace of tear
While over tests the others quake in fear,
For always she's convinced that mankind should
In every crisis only view the good.
Philosophizes she, all charm put on,
"The darkest hour directly leads to dawn."
'Tis said, last weekend, while with current beau,
That every single car tire flat did go.
Smiled she at him, "Now don't be downcast, for There's one good thing, we can't have any more!"

THE SOPHISTICATE

While classmates eat, this fellow can be found
In spots where varied viewpoints will abound.
With pipe in hand, above all he'd prefer
To calculate the clue to Salinger.
On politics he's razor-sharp and keen.
(And privy to the wiles of the "machine.")
Pete Seeger's albums, treasures to him dear,
And Hirt's great hits are pleasing to his ear.
Of fashionable cliques he is the king;
His worldly tastes are mirrored as "the thing."
'Tis truth, though, that he tends to be amused
By those who leave him, hopelessly confused.

THE BEAUTY

No rainbow in its finest, brightest hours
Could match her sweater's knitted mohair flowers.
And midst these blossoms grouped in casual bunch,
The Beauty, beautifully, chews her lunch.
Blond silken hair in studied disarray
Mute witness is to comb and lacquer spray.
The limpid eyes, mascara-framed, gaze out
Above red lips e'er fixed in pretty pout.
Ah lass, alas, though none your face can touch,
Your grades and class work don't amount to much.
And hours passed Narcissus-like on looks
Might better have been spent on school and books.

THE SENIOR

On tires loud a-screech, the Senior cool,
Careening 'round the corner, comes to school.
Smiles back at him Adonis from the glass;
He takes his books and saunters off to class.
His lordly path, before the school day starts,
All covered is with damsels' broken hearts.
The smile so brightly flashed betrays no trace
Of recently removed and costly brace.
When lunch is done, to class he soft does creep,
And gladly will he yawn, and gladly sleep.

COLLEGE IS AMERICA'S BEST FRIEND

Every American should give special thought to the college problem. Not because alumni of higher institutions can solve all of our country's difficulties but because they, by and large, produce most of America's leaders.

We need this well-trained leadership for ideas, for imagination, for clear vision, for creative solutions. This is what it will take to hold our place in science and development, business, jobs and living standards, in human progress and the paths of peace.

But higher education is facing a crisis—colleges are in a squeeze. Some face shortages. The growing number of applicants is staggering. If we are serious about remaining ahead, we must be equally serious about seeing that our colleges have enough classrooms, lab facilities and competent teachers.

College is America's best friend—give to the college of your choice.

Mr. Horowitz is leaving Horace Greeley at the end of this year to work on a novel. We of the yearbook staff would like to express our deep appreciation for all the help he has given us. As a teacher and as a counselor Mr. Horowitz has been friendly, understanding, and patient in all situations. We are sure that the school will feel his loss keenly. We wish Mr. Horowitz luck with his novel, and we are proud that this yearbook was among his earliest works.

Don't
Have fun
Jun

Another year of high school is over. For the seniors college and careers lie ahead, and the last four years will become another phase to remember in an ever lengthening life. For the underclassmen the cycle will begin again next fall, only they will be one year older, and one year closer to the time when they too will graduate.

The experiences that each of us has had in high school are highly personal, of course. No yearbook can recall all of them, but a yearbook can recall those events and activities that most of the student body shared. We hope that we have been able to preserve something of the temper and spirit of the past year, the things that have made it unique among previous years and those in the future.
